Dallas' unique boutiques offer countless treasures

BY QUIA QUERISMA

The saying goes, "I'm not from Texas, but I got here as soon as I could," and that definitely goes for a bevy of the city's most successful boutique owners. Hailing from across the country and around the globe, their Continental style has infiltrated "Big D." Not to be upstaged by those glossy out-of-towners, hometown fashionistas have used their keen eyes and Southern hospitality to create one-of-a-kind shopping experiences.

Fête Home Collection

Fête Home Collection carries a variety of items that add warmth and character to any space. The artwork and gift items are just as fun and funky as the Bishop Arts District neighborhood in which this boutique sits.

We love: Mindy Weiss wedding organization accessories, Oo La La Spa robes and slippers, Voluspa candles and Zents body products. Bishop Arts District, 322 W. Seventh St., 214-948-9874. www.fetehome.com.

Betty Cupcake

This mother/daughter-owned gem offers Dallas-exclusive lines and hard-to-find labels. The result is a finely edited collection of chic dresses, tops and accessories.

We love: The complimentary mini-cupcake buffet. 6723 Snider Plaza, 214-369-2253. www.bettycupcake.com.

Baby Bliss

This Snider Plaza boutique carries an adorable array of clothing, accessories and furniture for the trendiest babies. Parents just can't get enough of the über-cool leather shoes by PediPed and diaper bags by Nest and Petunia Pickle Bottom. Don't miss the collection of precious keepsake books.

We love: Hip bedding by Dwell and Serena & Lily. 6721 Snider Plaza, 469-232-9420; Southlake Town Square, 1243 Main St., Southlake, 817-251-6600. www.shopbabybliss.com.
